BABE HERMAN CLEVER FOR REISLER

California Featherweight's Shift Ring Tactics Puzzle Local Boy in Garden Bout.

LOSER BATTLES GAMESLY

Frisco Flash Looks Punch and Does Not Look Like Coming Champion.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

Babe Herman, the California featherweight, who according to Jack Dempsey will some day be champion of the class, defeated Johnny Reiser of this city last night at Madison Square Garden. Herman showed superiority over Reiser from the first round to the last. The victor's ring experience stood him in good stead for the reason that Reiser was comparatively new to the sport. Herman outboxed Reiser all the way, his jumping in and out tactics puzzling the youngster.

Reiser was intent on the opening round to the last on landing his trusty right hand on the jaw of the coast fighter. He failed for the reason that Herman declined to stand still to be hit. The California boy kept his head bobbing from side to side in avoiding the well meant shots of the youngster. Herman used his feet constantly in getting in and out of distance of Reiser. Reiser was aggressive throughout, but his opponent completely baffled his efforts to hit him on the jaw. The best blows landed by Reiser were heavy hooks to the body, and several of these shots had the effect of slowing up Herman.

The Californian had no trouble in landing on Reiser, and he reached the New Yorker with heavy swings in nearly every round. Yet he not only failed to knock out the youngster but the heaviest blows he landed did not even stagger Reiser. This was conclusive evidence that the California featherweight is lacking in the punch factor. It is also rather a strong indication that Herman will not win the featherweight title in the immediate future.

Herman's Blows Light.

The opening round was not especially rapid, Herman getting in the greater number of blows. Reiser's hits were the most effective.

Herman did nearly all the leading in the second round, landing a number of hard jolts to the body and compelling Reiser to take a few good lefts to the body.

The third round was marked by clinching. Whatever hitting was done was in favor of Herman who landed frequently but without effect.

Reiser did considerably better in the fourth round, sending in a number of hard jolts to the body and compelling Herman to break ground. Herman outboxed Reiser but did no damage.

Both men landed frequently in the fifth but Reiser's blows were more effective. The referee warned Herman in this round for hitting low.

The sixth round was very lively, the boys engaging in a number of hot rallies in which Herman seemed to have a shade the better. Herman was bleeding from mouth at the close of the bout and Reiser seemed to be a bit confused by the Californian's rushes.

Herman's defensive tactics sorely puzzled Reiser in the seventh and the youngster had all the worst of the round. Herman landed frequently but without apparent effect.

Herman's Puzzling Defense.

Reiser landed very well to the body in the eighth round, but he was unable to solve Herman's defense, and the Californian landed the greater number of clean blows.

Reiser was at his worst in the ninth round, and although Herman refused to mix with the youngster the Californian did not do any special damage to his opponent.

In the tenth round for the first time Herman traded punches with Reiser. The Californian landed flush on Reiser's jaw several times, but failed to make the youngster's knees sag. When Reiser landed on Herman's body the Californian man broke ground and took to his feet.

Reiser forced the pace in the eleventh and compelled Herman to break ground under a shower of left handers to the body. Herman rallied at the close of the round and handed out the greater amount of punishment. Herman had all the better of the last round, landing a succession of right and left handers to body and jaw.

Herman was declared the winner.

Marlowe Takes a Thumping.

Billy Marlowe, Rockaway's favorite bantam, was treated to a terrific thumping from Battling Leonard of Philadelphia. Leonard proved to be a clever boxer and a hard hitter. Marlowe is a hard puncher, but his opponent's result never was in doubt. Leonard jabbed Marlowe's face to a crimson hue, jolting his ribs with a hard right and suggested him with rights and lefts to the jaw. But Marlowe is a rugged fellow and was on his feet at the final bell.

Bud Christiano, reputed to be a sensation lightweight, boxed a draw with Freddie Jack, the veteran Irish boxer, in eight rounds of unsatisfactory boxing and wrestling. Christiano is in his novice state, and while strong and willing knows little or nothing of ring science. Jack's experience enabled him to puzzle the youngster, who was shaky once or twice, but finished strong.

Tait Peppers Droney.

Clonie Tait, lightweight champion of Canada, peppered Tim Droney of Lancaster Pa., with assorted jabs, uppercuts and hooks for twelve rounds and Droney was on his feet at the end of the last round. Naturally Droney having stayed eight rounds with Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, could not be expected to succumb to the Canadian title holder in any number of rounds. Droney is the poorest excuse for a boxer seen this season at the Garden, and how he managed to stay eight rounds with Leonard is a mystery. Tait is a fairly good boxer, but with little force in his blows. He hit Droney often enough to bring down an ox, but Droney never was off his feet. Tait necessarily got the award of the judges.

IRENE BEST COCKER SPANIEL

Wins Over 100 Specimens at Annual Specialty Show on Waldorf-Astoria Roof.

By FRANK F. DOLE.

The fifth annual specialty show of the American Spaniel Club was held at the Roof Garden of the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday. The judge was Mrs. H. P. Fiske of New York City. The show was held in the pool of the C. C. N. Y. last night. They were provided by T. Walker of Towne and Harris Hall and James Harbette of the High School of Commerce.

Walker started his in the final heat of the fifty yard back stroke race, which he won in elegant fashion over A. McNulty of De Witt Clinton and A. Brown of Flushing.

Brown, who swam the distance in better than the record figures in competition in the pool of Columbia University last night, was disappointed. He won the first one of the four trials in 26:45 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than any other victor had been able to register. He was beaten in the final heat in 29:45 seconds.

James Harbette of the High School of Commerce was the principal figure in the other upset, in the 220 yard race, which he won by a wide margin. He was the only swimmer to show a record of thirteen straight victories this season. Schell raced far below his best form and was badly beaten. He finished in fourth place, just behind the winner.

Kennedy made a plucky effort and good showing. He set a very fast pace and led by several yards until after passing the 100 yard mark. Here his pace began to slacken, and he gradually fell back. Harbette passed him at 170 yards. The summaries:

Women Barred from Bouts in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20.—Boxing bouts in Cleveland, under a new ruling by Mayor Fred Kohlman, will be for men only or for women only.

"In no case," the Mayor said, "will a bout be permitted before a crowd of both men and women. Violation of the rule will mean revoking the license of the club."

"If women must see boxing bouts," the Mayor said, "let them arrange to have them witnessed entirely by members of their own sex."

BRITISH CHAMPIONS MENACE GOLF OPEN

Duncan and Mitchell Would Join Vardon, Braid, Taylor and Herd at Skokie.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

With Harry Vardon, James Braid, J. H. Taylor and Sandy Herd all slated to appear in this year's national open championship it would be a pity not to make a regular party of it. This evidently is the thought in the mind of George Duncan and of Abe Mitchell, and at this stage the prospect looks very rosy indeed that all six Britons will appear at Skokie.

The word has been around now for several weeks concerning the intentions of the first four mentioned veterans. It might be urged that the report adding Duncan and Mitchell to the list of invaders is too good to be true only for the fact that the two Britons are actually for the statement. Apparently last year's invaders do not like the way matters broke for them in the open at Washington, not to mention the results of the British open at St. Andrews, which left the proud title in the hands of Jack Huchinson and the second round in the hands of Tom Kerrigan of St. Andrews.

Duncan has written John G. Anderson, under whose wing both he and Abe Mitchell were last year, stating that he would like nothing better than another tilt at the American open championship, which this time is to be played at Skokie. A second letter dispatched by the same mail has been received by the writer. In this the Hanger Hill star reiterates the desire of Mitchell and Mitchell to play at Skokie. "And," says Duncan, in conclusion, "it is quite on the cards that Abe and I will play."

Such an addition to the invading team would bring into the field at Skokie no less than six former holders of the British open crown. It is even possible that the total of honors men may be raised to seven by the time which would be the case were Mitchell, Hagen or Barnes to lead the cavalcade at Sandwich. Mitchell so far is the only one of the half dozen prospective invaders who has not won the British open. Abe, however, has been a frequent winner of the News of the World tournament, which is the British equivalent of the American professional championship.

Duncan draws rather a gloomy picture of British golf for the coming year. "Golf this year is dead as mutton," he says, adding, "I. H. Taylor is hawking the fact that all our good players are beating it for your side, leaving us nothing wherewith to repel the invading Americans."

According to Duncan, too, the larger ball is again being pushed to the fore, not by Taylor, but by A. C. M. Croome. Supporting Croome, George says, are several "big noises" in Britain who have had their year. Because of this they don't seem to care what others have to play with.

"A bigger ball forthwith!" exclaims Duncan. "Is not the hole small enough with the present ball? I say it is. Anyway, I think Croome & Co. will be unlucky."

Duncan concludes with the hope that opinion in the United States will crystallize against the attempt of Croome and his followers to restore the larger ball to the game. His wish is that they be asked to leave the game alone. "As it stands it is all right," he declares.

MISS WAINWRIGHT WINS TITLE SWIM

Young Mermaid Victor Over Mrs. Clune in 'Met' 100 Yard Event.

Fifteen-year-old Miss Helen Wainwright proved her superiority over Mrs. Charlotte Boyle Clune, champion and record holder at many distances, for the second time in one week when she snared her older and more experienced rival in the 100 yard Metropolitan A. A. U. championship held under the auspices of the Women's Swimming Association in the municipal pool in West Sixtieth street last night.

What proved a distinct surprise last week in Madison Square Garden when Miss Wainwright beat Mrs. Clune for the 220 yards title was repeated last night, but Mrs. Clune did not relinquish her honors without a thrilling battle. The youthful mermaid showed the same form and stamina as before surprising those who regarded her purely as a fancy diving champion.

Miss Wainwright set the pace from the start of the race, and in the second lap, when Mrs. Cl
